RAL Quality Mark VIP – revised quality regulations

Vacuum Insulation Panels (VIP) are high-performance thermal insulation panels which ensure an extreme high insulation quality with a minimum of panel thickness.

The field of application is versatile, façade and floor insulation in the construction industry, insulation of refrigerators, cooling units, freezers and insulation of temperature-controlled packaging and containers.

Since 2009, RAL quality mark VIP of Güteschutzgemeinschaft Hartschaum e.V. (GSH) ensures and stands for continuous high product quality of Vacuum Insulation Panels.

Comprehensive and regular tests ensure a consistent quality standard which clearly exceeds the legal requirements.

In close collaboration with VIPA (Vacuum Insulation Panel Association) the quality regulations, in which the requirements for the marking are defined, were thoroughly edited and expanded.

Especially the technical parameters were compared with the new knowledge of practical values and thereupon significantly intensified in order to fulfill the increased requirements in the various application fields.

Therefore, it is ensured for the future, that RAL quality mark VIP stands for reliable quality and not only complies with the current requirements of the market but also goes well beyond.
